

EUROPE

CITIZEN EUROPE

available for educational screenings

How does the Erasmus programme impact on young people across Europe? What are the opportunities offered to students, teachers, interns and volunteers? What are the challenges facing young people in Europe today?

The documentary Citizen Europe travels across Europe to answer these questions. It captures the experiences of Erasmus participants who work, study or volunteer in different European countries.

The film is set against the current European crisis, fueled by rising youth unemployment and nationalism. Further insight is offered by the first students to take part in Erasmus in the late 1980's, Erasmus programme educators as well as interviews with political scientist Ivan Krastev (Human Science Institute, Vienna), historian Timothy Garton Ash (University of Oxford), philosopher Srećko Horvat and professor Loukas Tsoukalis (University of Athens).

Three versions of the film are available (29, 56 & 72 minutes) that provide an excellent tool for discussion in the classroom about Europe today and how it has changed over the last thirty years.

REVIEWS & LINKS

“... the film has a timely, urgent and political edge given the threat to the EU project posed by the rise of populism in Europe and the darkening Brexit shadow.”

The Irish Times | READ MORE

“The documentary follows the thread of more than thirty years of existence of the most wonderful machine to produce integration, through the human adventures of a few of its actors across the continent.”

Le Monde | READ MORE

"...it convinced me to go and vote".

Slate | READ MORE

"...a fascinating crossover of experiences".

Le Temps | READ MORE

“Europe belongs to the younger generation – but do they believe in it?”

Liberation | READ MORE

“Erasmus is the European antidote to inwardness”

Le Monde | READ MORE

"The Erasmus idea should be compulsory – not just for students, but also for taxi drivers, plumbers and other workers. By this, I mean they need to spend time in other countries within the European Union; they should integrate."
